POWER HITTING FOR BASEBALL, SOFTBALL, YOUTH, AND PROS

Our Laser Power Swing Trainer is powered by patented Exoprecise resistance technology.

The simple exercise of raising your elbows to the side demonstrates the basic principles of Exoprecise resistance; building strength in your shoulders, laterals, and obliques. Releasing from resistance accelerates your elbows, quickly returning to your center of gravity, developing fast-twitch/muscle memory.

How does Exoprecise resistance work for hitting?

- Builds strength in hitting muscles.
- Releasing triggers bat speed.
- Improves swing path mechanics.
- Guides you to a powerful, and accurate swing.

"Mashing! Barreling everything, with backspin pullside; not getting his usual hookspin...gave that look of, oh I felt that...it was impressive, our head coach kept looking at me and, raising his eyebrows. The product is sweet, every guy on the team is ramming the ball." Rusty McNamara, Hitting Coach; University of Hawaii.

EXOPRECISE RESISTANCE FIXES CASTING

During swing separation, resistance strengthens your shoulders, and core muscles; and prevents casting. Starting your forward swing path, releasing from resistance triggers bat speed.

GUIDES YOU TO A POWERFUL SWING

Exoprecise resistance connects your back arm to your powerful core, fixing a long swing, by "staying connected;" AKA "hands inside the ball."

"Dude...you are spot on. I'm not satisfied with 60%, I'm ready to strap this thing on and get to work." Eric Thames, MLB player; Milwaukee Brewers.

GUIDES YOU TO A POWERFUL SWING

As you stay through the ball, Exoprecise resistance builds strength in your shoulders (acceleration/deceleration), and core muscles (lateral, intercostal).

Powerful follow through, our power swing trainer works from the start of your swing, until the end; hit your way, taking batting practice as usual.
